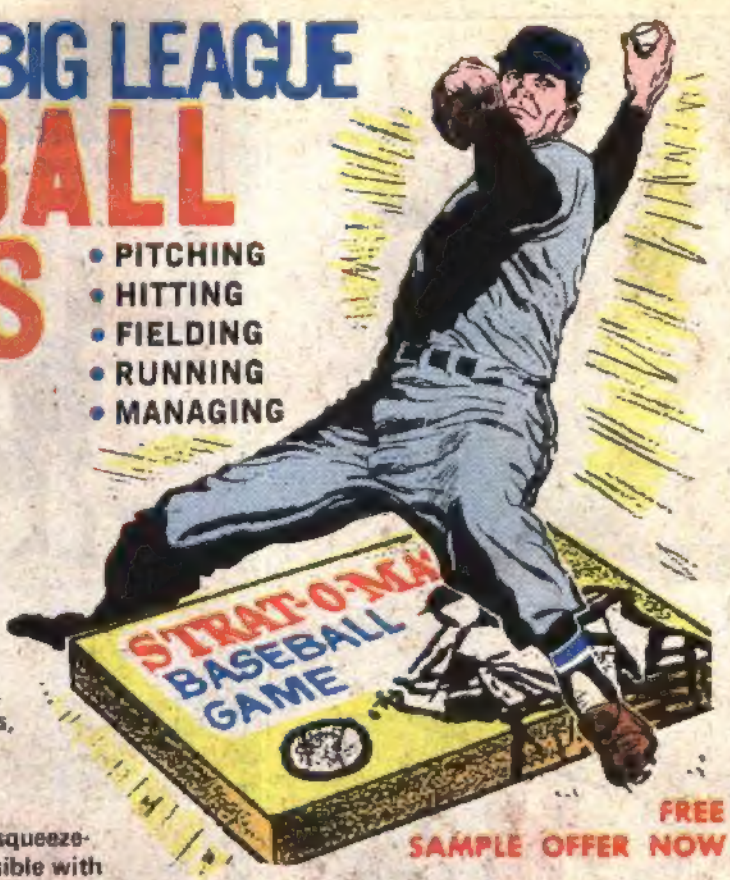
PLAY 1970 BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL GAMES

- PITCHING
- HITTING
- FIELDING
- RUNNING
- MANAGING



FREE SAMPLE OFFER NOW

Easy to play, real thrilling, exciting baseball with STRAT-O-MATIC. 480 big league players perform according to their actual abilities and your managerial decisions. You, the manager, call all strategy moves for all major league teams.

You, the manager, not only decide lineups, insert pinch-hitters, pinch-runners, and relief pitchers, play your infield "in or deep," and make defensive changes at any time, but also call for the sacrifice, steal, hit-and-run, and squeeze-play. All strategy moves are possible with STRAT-O-MATIC.

You have real control over all 480 major league players — who actually hit, pitch, field, and run according to their baseball abilities.

Each player has truly individual qualities. He slumps and goes into hot streaks, performs heroics and commits errors. With STRAT-O-MATIC all qualities of a ballplayer are realistic.

For example, in batting Reggie Jackson will be among the leaders in both home runs and strikeouts. Matty Alou will be among your batting average leaders, but will hit fewer home runs than the average ballplayer.

In pitching, Fergie Jenkins will display good control, be difficult to hit, but will yield more "gopher balls" than most major league pitchers.

In fielding, Curt Flood will make catches which other outfielders would fail to make. Brooks Robinson will make fewer errors and take away more would-be base hits than other third basemen. In base running, and stealing also, all players will perform realistically.

The above are just some of STRAT-O-MATIC's highlights. For the entire story, mail coupon for a colorful FREE BROCHURE containing full detailed information and FREE STRAT-O-MATIC SAMPLES. Don't delay. Write today!

VIZUU!

"Vizuu."

In the singular the word is KISUU. In the plural it is VIZUU. If you look it up in a Swahili-English Dictionary you will find that it means: Kind of evil spirit, said to be capable of being employed by witches and wizards to enter houses in the form of a rat and kill people by devouring their livers. They are said to be the spirits of people thought to be dead, but who were in reality spirited away by magic. It is connected with another Swahili word. It is KIZUKA in the singular and VIZUKA in the plural. It means. Something which appears suddenly, thing seldom seen, an apparition, phantom, or ghost. Both words are probably of Bantu origin.

It happened more than half a century ago. I was young and just out of college. My specialty was Anthropology. I was given a grant to study a certain tribe for a year. Let's call them the Mg' ombe tribe. That isn't the real name but I use it for personal reasons. The District Administrator wasn't in favor of the idea when I arrived in his territory. But the order from England was to the point. I was to be given every and any assistance that I required. So he and six soldiers took me on a six day march to the area that was occupied by the Mg'ombie tribe. The Chief was called Mwongo and the Medicine Man was called Peleka. My tribal assistant who spoke English and was going to teach me the language and help me understand the customs was called Chamba.

I was given a hut for myself. Enough supplies for a month were left for me. Then another supply would be sent out. In an emergency, well, I could learn to eat the native food. Which I did anyway. After three days I soon discovered that at night there was an armed guard around my hut. It didn't take much brain work to figure out that the purpose was to protect me. But from what? That I learned within two weeks. I was asleep when I heard a terrible scream. Just one scream-that was all. I slept on the floor and got up in a hurry. I saw the three men guarding my hut rush to a distant hut and I went after them. It wasn't a pleasant sight that greeted my eyes. - From the hut they took out the body of a dead man. You could see the opening where some kind of reptile or rodent had gnawed through the flesh.

Then I heard the cry of the people: Vizuu! Vizuu! They were hurling spears at what to me looked like four big rats. But these creatures were very agile and escaped. Later Chamba came to me and explained what a Kisuu was. The Medicine Man, Peleka, joined us. I didn't show that I disbelieved them. I merely listened. Then Chamba asked for my aid.

"There is one big box left for you by the District Administrator, Major Wellington. I know what is inside. To be used only in an emergency. There is a shotgun with shells and a revolver with extra bullets. Take the shotgun. Kill the Vizuu when they come again."

"One week from today those evils spirits will come again here to hurt us," added the Medicine Man. "You will help us, this I know."

We were peaceful for the rest of the week. And then came that day or night when those creatures were to come again. I remained awake with my shotgun ready to go into action. Then I heard that cry again: Vizuu! Vizuu! I rushed out and saw two rats go pass me. I blasted away with my shotgun and injured both creatures. But, leaving a trail of blood behind, they did manage to get out of the village. Then I saw the other two and shot both of them. They also managed to escape.

Came morning and a search party was organized. We went some three miles until we came to an open field. And there were the dead bodies of four men! All dead from shotgun wounds. They were recognized as members of another tribe-who had been drowned when their boat had been upset in the rapids. It wasn't easy for me-out of college and from a world where this is not possible-to see it with my own eyes.

The Medicine Man explained to me that the Medicine Man of the other tribe, and his enemy, had worked this evil. He would be notified that unless it stopped-there would be war. What about those bodies? Before my very eyes, they vanished. You can say that this was some kind of an illusion, some kind of a trickery I did not put this into my report. Tell me, who than would have believed me? As for myself, I know that this is all true, even though I cannot expect you to accept that view.
